It is my pleasure and my duty to seize this opportunity to express my gratitude to the United States of America.

With a generosity and a delicacy that have gone to my heart, American citizens have come to the assistance of my country, which the German invasion has plunged into untold misery by exorbitant levies, out of all proportion to the means of the inhabitants.

But for the brotherly help of the United States, famine would have spread like a plague through our devastated provinces. The people of Belgium, inured to suffering, will ever be grateful to the United States.

To your eminent diplomatists, who have served us with so great a devotion amid circumstances of the utmost difficulty, and to all those who have so splendidly organized the feeding of our people, I wish to bear heartfelt tribute and to render public thanks.

Explorer Lived on Meat of Starved-to-Death Dogs When Party Got Lost.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Telling of times when dog meat—and the meat of starved-to-death dogs at that—tasted derbilt Hotel was opened three years better than any porterhouse steak he ago not the least of its attractions was had ever eaten; picturing a region where Nancy Corrigan, whose sparkling eyes the average velocity of the wind is 30 and friendly smile helped her to sell miles, where a bunting flag goes to more books and papers from her stand shreds in a few minutes; describing sea than any other newsgirl in town. lephants that weigh sometimes as much as four tons each and measure 25 feet n length, Sir Douglas Mawson recently presented before the National Georaphic Society one of the most remark able stories of polar exploration that has wer come from those regions.

In his account of his researche along the great Antarctic Continen discovered by Rear Admiral Charles Wilkes-who was the same Admiral Wilkes who figured in the historic Trent" affair, in which he, during the American Civil War, held up the Britthe church of the Holy Rosary, charged Mason and Slidell—Sir Douglas paid tribish packet "Trent," and removed her ute to the explorer and his work.

work under the patronage of the Aus Aurora, formerly plying in American ides were expected to be finished this to their base and finally brought them waters, was the ship that carried then away. A midway base with a wireless relay station through which the party day and disclaimed any recollection of having killed Patterson. His defense was established at Macquarie Island, which was on the old sailing ship route between Australia and Cape Horn, and whose beaches are lined with the wrecks of many a ship.

"The main base was established at Cape Dennison, on the Antarctic Continent, and a second base several hundred miles farther east.

Gets Pictures of Birds.
Pictures were brought back by Sir Dougles showing the nesting places of a number of birds of passage who go to the Polar Continent to nest and whose eggs have never been seen be fore. The birds and sea elephants wer absolute strangers to fear, and would inspect the camera men with as much seeming interest as the camera man nspected them.

The character of the winds that blow on the edge of the Antarctic Continent was graphically shown by the fact that men had to lean out upon it, at an angle of perhaps 45 degrees, to walk in the ordinary wind, while no camera could record anything but a blank when the blizzard was at its height. The hut which was the headquarters of the party, had one window, which was in the roof. The breath of the men and the steam of the kitchen caused this to become frosted over to a thickness of five inches. Men going out to take the records of the climatological instrunents had to break the ice that froze before their faces, from one side of showing how their faces were covered with great patches of frost-bite, told an eloquent story of suffering. But the scene was not all somber. The cellar was a natural refrigerator, and consisted simply of the space under the floor of the hut. When the cook wanted a piece of meat he would send a dog down to get a penguin or a leg of mutton, and would take it away from him as he came out. One day the dog got away with a leg of nutton, which was rescued only after a chase of two hours; and then it was give it shrd sh sh sh shrdlluluuunnE so damaged that the party voted to give it to the dogs after all. Reading matter was in great demand. One of the party read the Encyclopedia

Britannica through to the O's. Upon one occasion Sir Douglas set out with Dr. Mertz and Lieut. Ninnis on a coast-charting expedition. After going about 200 miles Ninnis and his sledge calling brought no response, and the smashed-to-pieces sledge at the bottom told a painful story of his fate.

Eat Meat of Starved Dogs.
Thereafter Mawson and Mertz turned around and started back to camp. They ate all the dogs one by one, as they died by starvation. Finally there was only one dog left-Old Ginger.

"Old Ginger was a noble animal," said Sir Douglas, "and he was game to the last. But when he died of that sheer hunger of the Antarctic wilderness of ice and snow, Mertz and I had to eat his carcass. We ate the bony parts first, breaking every bone so as to get out the marrow. Raw dog meat may not sound well at the distance, or when one is this far removed from the ulti-mate hunger in which the stomach seems to attack its very self, but there it tasted as good as anything you ever weaken, and in a few days, Jan. 17, it was, he died. I almost turned cannibal so starved-out was my condition, but with it all I buried him, and then started back on the 100-mile journey that lay between me and safety. Sore of body and sick of mind, it was more by crawling than by walking that I was able to get back to camp only to see the Aurora disappearing over the horizon. It had left provisions for me, however, and six men to search for me. Nothing but Providence saved me from the fate of

Sir Douglas showed pictures of beds of coal that tell of a time when tropic sum-mer once reigned in this great home of the blizzards, and others revealing great ice cliffs with the stratified snows of a hundred winters upon them, each strat-um standing out as clearly as though it were a different stratum of sediment

The attractive newsgirl was respon sible for the patronage of at least two of the hotel's richest guests. One o them, who had known and admired Miss Corrigan when she was behind the newsstand of the Hotel Belmont, moved up to the Vanderbilt. There he achieved the reputation of being the most literary man in the house. Frank Morton Bates, a wealthy manufacturer of Attleboro, Mass., on a visit to New York, registered at the Vanderbilt for a week. He saw Miss Corri gan, promptly became a reader of the latest best sellers and his visit of one week lengthened. Soon the clerks and friends of the newsgirl remarked that the young milionaire was giving the older suitor a run for the prize. Specu-Corrigan wore a solitaire and announced lost that she and Mr. Bates were to be married the next day. They were married June 4, 1912, and the young bride became popular in At-tleboro society. Within 21 months Mrs. Bates had filed suit for divorce in the uperior Court at Taunton. The case

He Denounces Them in the Senate for "Endeavoring to Unhorse Their Party."

By Wire From the Washington Bu-reau of the Post-Disputch. WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator Stone of Missouri, in his long speech yester-day, in which he bitterly arraigned the "recreant Democrats who had endeav-ored to unhorse their party," by their action in attempting to recommit the ship purchase bill, particularly attacked Senator Clarke of Arkansas, and made and the administration. .

Senator Stone described Senator Clarke as the leader in the revolt, and ttacked Senator Camden of Kentucky. leclaring they had entered into a secret greement with the Republicans. He charged that Senator Clarke had violated a caucus pledge, a charge which the Arkansas Senator denied in a vigorous speech, explaining that he had warned his colleagues that he would not be bound to any action which would leprive him of his right to vote against the ship purchase bill. Senator Camen also replied, declaring he was willing to let his constituents pass upon his cord, and adding that a denunciation of secrecy came "with ill grace from the Senator from Missouri, who is known the world over as 'Gum Shoe

GOVERNOR REMOVES POLICE BOARD AT KANSAS CITY

Names New Members and Asks The to Appoint Someone Other Than His Cousin as Secretary.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 4.—Gov.

Major this morning announced the removal of the members of the Kansas City Police Persons of the Research Pe sas City Police Board and his cousin. Edward T. Major, secretary to the board and Excise Clerk.

The men removed are W. C. Reynolds and W. W. Knight, In their places he appointed Col. Fred A. Lamb of the Third Regiment, National Guard of Missouri, and J. A. Laps-ley, a bond broker. The. Governor said that he had requested the new commissioners to appoint another man in the place of his cousin. He also asked them to go entirely through the department and remove every inefficient man from top to bottom.

The Governor decided to make the changes a week ago when Commissioner Knight openly charged that there was graft in the Kansas City police department, and that some of the members of the department were permitting crime to flourish without attempting to stop it.

An Unprecedented Sale of Sample Hosiery for Men, Women and Children at Savings of a Third to a Half Promptly at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning we shall begin what we believe to be the most phenomenal sale of Women's, Children's, Infants' and Men's Hosiery that has ever been held in Saint Louis or vicinity.

We have secured about 11,000 sample pairs to sell at the ridiculously low prices quoted here because of the following reason:

A large wholesaler who had prepared his entire line of samples for his salesmen did not send them out on account of a readjustment of his business and, rather than go to the great amount of trouble to return each pair to its original box, they were offered to us at a tremendous saving in price.

We will, in turn, offer you equally as great savings and this sale is a most opportune time to lay in a liberal supply for months to come. This sale also affords a chance for those who wish to give something to charitable institutions to buy Hosiery at a fraction of its regular prices.

In order to fully appreciate the wonderful values which we are offering, you should make a personal inspection—the earlier the better, because this Hosiery cannot last long, in spite of the large quantity, at the prices at which it is offered.

These Are the Sizes You Will Find in This Sale:

Of course, owing to these being samples, there are not all sizes in the collection. For women we have sizes 9 and $9\frac{1}{2}$, and for the children nearly all are size 9; for infants, sizes 6 and $6\frac{1}{2}$, and for men size $10\frac{1}{2}$.

ormer President Cites New Of fices and Increased Annual Expenditure.

resident William H. Taft, in today's ssue of the Saturday Evening Post supplies the first of two articles on "Economy and Efficiency in the Federal Government." Today's article deals with the subject of economy.

He begins by the assertion that "The Democratic party, while out of power for 16 years, assailed the Republican party for its extravagance," but that now it is spending more than the Republican party did. "Both parties," he writes, "are properly subjec. to criticism for waste and lack of economy. What I hope to show is that permanent economy in the discharge of the func-tions of the Government must be prereded by an expert examination into the whole field of its activities, a reorranization of departments, offices and laws, and a complete change in the nethods of presenting appropriation ills for enactment."

Calls Democrats' Claims Humor. He then reviews the fiscal system of the Government, and describes his own fforts, as President, in the direction of conomy, particularly in the appropriaions for 1911. In the last two years of is administration, the House was Demoratic, and he cites the assertion of the 912 Democratic platform, that the Democrats had "lessened waste and extravagance," as a bit of humor. For, he says, the expenditures of the two years of the ocratic House exceeded those of the preceding two years by nearly $75,000,000. He then points to pledges of economy and retrenchment in the 1912 Democratic platform, and proceeds to tell how, in his opinion, those pledges have not been carried out. The total of appropriations for the ordinary expenses of Goveinment for the years ending June 30 in excess of that for the previous year ard instead of reducing the "number of seless offices," as promised in the platform, the Democrats have created 4,256 new offices and have abolished orly 8734, making a net increase of 5522 new offices, with salaries approaching a total of $7,000,000.

Cites Increase in Salaries. Moreover, he says, in addition to these offices with specific salaries, other new offices, without specification as to number or salary, were created, which involve an outlay of $8,400,000 annually. making a total increase of more than 15,000,000 in salaries. "This would seem to indicate," he says, "that the plank of the platform I have quoted was not o stand on, but to get in on." Expenditures for another year, he predicts from the figures now available, will show an increase of some $20,000,-000 over those for this year.

"But," he writes, "the strongest evidence of the disingenuous character of their professions of economy is in the attitude of the last Democratic House and of the present Democratic administration toward any effort to improve the present conditions in this regard. Inder the authority of a Republican Congress I appointed a commission of experts to institute an inquiry into our resent governmental organization and methods, with a view to recommending the changes needed to promote econmy and efficiency. The work of this ommission was most thorough, as far as it went, and was embodied in extended reports. The last Democratic House manifested its hostility to the eeded appropriations for

"Under the present administration no No advantage has been derived from nost valuable work already done and preserved in Government records, and een projected. The New Freedom now being enjoyed under administration auspices has been described in glowing terms; but real reform in the methods of governmental business, which might materially lighten the growing financial burden of the New Freedom, has not had any serious attention."

He then quotes the paragraphs on conomy in President Wilson's last nessage to Congress. "It is not what he says, but what he does not say, that is discouraging," he then com-ments. "If the President was anxious to induce Congress to provide for a cominduce Congress to provide for a com-mission—and the reorganization of the Government for economic purposes can be effected in no other way—he was not happy in the general impression his language gives. A master of style, as he is, if he had deemed the subject of compelling importance, he certainly might have used words better calculat-ed to stir the action of Congress."

Vocalion, Name of Newest Kind of Phonograph.

Vocalion is the name given to the latest development of the phonograph, and it is expected that this new instrument will be put on exhibition for the first time in St. Louis within the next few days at Aeolian Hall, 1004 Olive street. Already this almost human intrument has been on exhibition in the East and musical experts are said to be enthusiastic in their praise of its wonders. For a long time it has been known that Aeolian experts have been at work on a new development of the phonograph, but it was only recently that any details were permitted to become public. This new development is principally in the symphonetic horn. It s this horn that makes the tones almos

As a result, the symphonetic horn amplifies the sound and preserves with most remarkable fidelity the timbre of the human voice, and the instrumental voicings of the orchestra throughout its entire gamut. The con-rol of volume is accomplished by what a known as the Graduola—and one may that at some distance from the vocalion and retain this control through an in-the holes: For No. 1 green a mashie shot is required, with a lift over the artificial lake. No. 2 is about 25-foot distance, and the rules call for the putter to be and the rules call for the putter to be used, miniature hills being the hazards for this green. No. 3 is a driving green, with the privilege of using either wood-en club off the tee into the canvas. The nd shot must be mashie and the second shot must be massive third with a putter. Four is another putting green, on the order of 2, but with slightly different obstacles. No. 5 is practically the same as 3.

No. 6 calls for a mashie shot, lofting the ball into an oval opening 25x36 nones and with about a 25-degree angie. On a good shot the ball will re-turn to the green. No. 7 is termed the blind hole, a tree being directly between the tee and green. You strike the ball with a spin to make it roll off a miniature hillside near the tree. Eight is another putting green of about 30 feet distance. No. 9 is the longest of the course, about 40 feet, and it has several miniature hills as hazards.

The course was laid out in detail by James Foutis Jr., formerly professional at the St. Louis Country Club, and considered one of the cleverest golfers in this country. The nine-hole course has provisions for the players that govern every strike.

Because the grounds are made of colay, weather conditions interfered with the playing Thursday.

Declares Business Should Cooperate With Government in Framing Laws for All.

SEES FOOD SHORTAGE

Farmers Should Grow More Grain, He Tells Chamber of Commerce Convention.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 .- Co-operation between business and the Government in framing laws for the benefit of all the people was urged by President Wilon last night in an address before several hundred representative business men here attending the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He declared that 'we must all pool our interests" in or der to discover the best means for handling public problems.

The President predicted that while there is a shortage of food in the world now, the shortage will be much greater later. He pointed out that, under the guidance of the Department of Agricul-ture, efforts must be made by farmers in the United States to grow more grain in order that the world may be fed.

Urges Combine of Exporters.
Speaking of the foreign trade of the United States, the President asked that business men devise some way of allowing exporters in the United States to combine to obtain common selling agencles and to give long time credits in such a way that these co-operative devices may be open to the use of all.

He declared that apparently the antitrust laws prohibited such combinations now but that he would favor a change if a method fair to all could be found. He spoke of the work being done by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in "surveying the world, for the benefit of all business men."

Business men themselves are to blame if intelligent laws affecting them are not framed, the President asserted. He added that they should come out into the open and use their knowledge of conditions to bring about fair laws to preventabusiness evils,

The Mexican question was mentioned by Mr. Wilson as an example of the difficulty he had in getting accurate in-

Draws Pleture of World. "I would prefer that you receive me as if for the time being I were one of your own number," said the Presient, in opening his address, "because the longer I occupy the office that I ow occupy, the more I regret any lines of separation; the more I deplore any feeling that one set of men has one set of interests and another set of men has another set of interests; the more I feel the solidarity of the nation, the mpossibility of separating one interest from another without misconceiving it. he necessity that we should all understand one another in order that we may inderstond ourselves.

"There is an illustration which I have used a great many times. I will use it again, because it is the most serviceable to my mind. We often speak of man. who cannot find his way in some ungle or some desert as having lost bimself. Did you never reflect that that is the only thing he has not lost? He is there. He has tost the rest of the world. He has no fixed point by which to steer. He does not know which way is north, which is the south, which is east, which is west, and, if he did know, he is so confused that he would not know which of these directions his goal lay; and, therefore, following his heart, he walks in a great circle from right to left and comes back to where he started, to himself again.

"To my mind it is a picture of the world. If you have lost other interests and do not know the relation of your own interests to those other interests, then you do not understand your own interests and have lost yours. What you want is orientation, relationship to the points of the compass, relationship to the other people in the world: vital connections which have for the time being been severed. And so I am particularly glad to express my admiration for the kind of organization which ou have drawn together.

Comments on "Booster Spirit."
"I have attended banquets of Chambers of Commerce in various parts of the country and have got the impression of each of them that there was only one city in the country. And it has seemed to me that those assertions were neant in order to destroy men's perspective in order to destroy their sens of relative proportions; worst of all, if I may be permitted to say so, they were Boosting is a very unhandso thing. Advancing enterprise is a very handsome thing, but to exaggerate local merit in order to create dispropora particularly handsome thing or a paricularly intelligent thing.

"The advantage about a Chamber of Commerce of the United States is that there is only one way to boost the United States and that is by seeing to t that the conditions under which business is done throughout the country are the best possible conditions. There cannot be any disproportion about that. If you draw your sap and your vitality from all quarters, then the more san and vitality there is in you the more there is in the commonwealth as a whole, and every time you lift at all you lift the whole lever of manufacturing and mercantile enterprise

"Moreover, the advantage of it is that you cannot boost the United State in that way without understanding the United States. You learn a great deal. I agreed with a colleague of mine in the Cabinet the other day that we had never attended in our lives before a school to compare with that we were now attending for the purpose of gaining a liberal education.

"Of course I learn a great many things that are not so. But the interesting thing about it is this: Things that are not so do not match. If you hear enough of them you see there is no pattern whatever; it is a crazy quilt. Whereas the truth always matches piece for piece, with other parts of the

"No man can lie consistently, and he cannot lie about everything if he talks to you long. So that I would guarantee that if enough liars talked to you you would get the truth.
"I had somewhat that experience about Mexico and that was about the only way in which I learned anything that was so, for there have been vivid imaginations and many special interests which have depicted things as they wished to believe them to be. "Now seriously, the task of this body is to match all the facts of business throughout the country and see the vast and consistent pattern of them That is the reason—and I think you are to be congratulated upon the fact—that you cannot do this thing without common counsel.

"I have asked myself, before I came

"I have asked myself, before I came here tonight, what relation you could bear to the Government of the United States and what relation the Government could bear to you. There are two aspects and activities of the Government with which you will naturally come into most direct contact.

"The first is the Government's power of inquiry—systematic and disinterested ing wars was advocated by the President, who remarked that "when peace is as handsome as war, there will be no wars" and "when men engage in the pursuits of peace in the same spirit of self-sacrifice as they engage in wars, wars will disappear."

The President predicted that while there is a shortage will be more is to be fed; and the methods of our developm world now. That shortage will be more is to be fed; and the methods of our farmers must feed upon the scientific information to be derived from the varied plant a great deal more. It is necessary that we should plant a great deal more per liculture will be of infinite importance to the whole world?

"There is a shortage of food in the world now. That shortage will be more is to be fed; and the methods of our farmers must feed upon the scientific information to be derived from the State Departments of Agriculture and possible. "Similar that there should not be a plow or a "The object and use of that depart."

One thing we are just beginning to do that we ought to have done long ago. We ought long ago to have had our Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, we ought long ago to have sent the best eyes of the Government out into the world, where the opportunities and openings of American commerce and American genius were to be found Men who were not sent out as the par-

Co-Operation of Exporters.
"There is a specific matter about which I, for one, want your advice. Let me say, if I may say it without disrespect, that I do not think you are pre-pared to give it right away. You will have to make some rather extended in quiries before you are ready to give it. What I am thinking of is competition in foreign markets as between the merchants of different nations. "I speak of the subject with a certain degree of hesitation, because the thing farthest from my thought is taking advantage of nations now disabled from playing the full part in that competition, and seeking a sudden selfish advantage because they are for the ime being disabled. Pray believe me hat we ought to eliminate all that thought from our minds and consider this matter as if we and the other nations of the world were in the normal circumstances of commerce. There is a ormal circumstance of cor which we are apparently at a disad-"Our anti-trust laws apparently-I say apparently because I see the Attorney-General is present and I am not sure am right-the anti-trust laws of the United States apparently make it illegal for merchants in the United States to form commissions for the purpose strengthening themselves in taking advantage of the opportunities of foreign competition. That is a very serious matter for this reason: There are some corporations and some firms, for all I know, whose business is great nough and whose resources are abundant enough to enable them to establish selling agencies in foreign countries, to enable them to extend the long credits which in some cases are necessary in order to keep the trade they desire; which enables them, in other words, to organize their business in foreign territory in a way which the smaller man cannot afford to do. His business has not grown big enough to permit him to establish selling agencies. The expert commission merchant, perhaps, taxes him a little bit too high to make that an available competitive eans of conducting and extending his business. The question arises, there fore, how are the smaller merchants how are the younger and weaker cor-porations going to get a foothold as against the combinations which are per-mitted and even encouraged by foreign Governments in this very field of com Wants to Be Shown a Way. "Amorican merchants feel that they are at a very considerable disadvantage contending against that. The matter has been many times brought to my attention and I have each time suspended judgment because in this matter 'I am from Missouri,' and I want to be shown this: I want to be shown how that combination can be made and conducted in a way which won't close it against the use of everybody who wants o use it. A combination has a tendency exclude new members. When a group of men set control of a good thing they do not see any particular point in letting

"What I would like very much to be shown, therefore, is a method of co-operation, which is not a method of ombination, not that the two words are mutually exclusive, but we have come to have a special meaning at-tached to the word 'combination.' Most our combinations have a safety lock and you have to get the combination to get in. I want to know how these co-operative methods can be adopted for the benefit of everybody who wants to use them, and I say frankly if I can be shown that, I am for them.

"If I cannot be shown that, I am against them and I hasten to add that I hopefully expect that I can be

The President said that he hoped the organization woud take steps to discover the opinion of the small mer-chants and bankers in the country districts on the subject.
"As a matter of fact," he continued

"you do not have time to think in a city. It takes time to think. You can get what you call opinions by contagion in a city, and get them very quickly, "but you do not always know where the germ came from. You have no scientific laboratory method by which to determine whether it is a good germ or a bad germ.

"There are thinking spaces in this country, and some of the thinking done is very solid thinking indeed: the thinking of the sort of men that we all love best, who think for themselves, who do not see things as they are told to see them, but look at them and see them for themselves, and if they are told they are white when they are not white with eyes and with a courage back of those eyes to tell what they see.

"The country is full of those men. They have been singularly reticent some times, singularly silent; but the country is full of them, and what I rejoice in is that you have called them into the ranks. Your methods are bound to be democratic in spite of you. I did not mean democratic with a big D, though I have a private conviction that you cannot be democratic with a small d long without becoming democratic with a big D. Still that is just between oura big b. Still that is just between ourselves. The point is, that when we have a consensus of opinion, when we have this common counsel, then the legislative processes of this Government will be infinitely illuminated."

Experience has taught him, the President said, not to try ito dominate any conference called to get the best solution of a problem because "common counsel" always brings the best results.

"What has got to pervade us like a There are a great many dreadful things about war, as nobody need to be told in this day of distress and of terror. But there is one thing about war which has a very splendid side, and that is the consciousness that a whole wish to gain weight is that they justed on drawing single hand is fighting about war which has a very splendid side, and that is the consciousness that a whole thing about war which has a very splendid side, and that is the consciousness that a whole has a very splendid side, and that is the consciousness that a whole thing to see another. A Word About Terms

An Open Letter

(About Bronchitis.)

August 2, 1914,

In March, 1914, I became afflicted with an attack of Bronchitis which forced me to remain in bed for two months. The doctor in attendance changed the medicine several times, and instead of improvement, I seemed to grow worse. For awhile I was despondent, until my wife read a little pamphlet advertising the "Essence Mentho-Laxene." Discouraged with what I had been using without effect, I was willing to try almost anything that sounded like a cure. The Mentho-Laxene was bought, the syrup prepared according to direction, and before half of the quantity was consumed the cough had abated and I was able to get up and get around the house. To make a long story short, I was at work four days after, and have never felt any symptoms of the dread disease since. All who are acquainted with bronchitis will understand how hard it is to subdue the cough, but today I am willing to take an eath, or make an affidavit to the effect that my case of Bronchitis was as severe as ever afflicted man, and that I was positively In March, 1914, I became afflicted with an attack of Bronchitis which of Bronchitis was as severe as ever afflicted man, and that I was positively cured of it in less than four days, all due to the wonderful curative powers of the "Essence Mentho-Lazene." Since then I have recommended it to all sufferers as I was, or to those who were subject to colds of any kind. In each case the medicine sustained the reputation I had given it and all were loud in their praises of this truly valuable prescription.

All who may be skeptical in its use can write me, and I will cheerfully give them all the information they desire above my personal signature. Very respectfully,

FOR seventeen years past, millions of women have owed their health, vigor and symmetry largely to Nemo Self-Reducing Corsets. A strong statement: but true, BECAUSE-

The Nemo Self-Reducing Corset introduced a new IDEA that was practical. It met a crying demand never before satisfied. It provides complete hygienic support for the abdomen and the delicate organs contained therein. It reshapes and reduces surplus flesh. It actually decreases both the size and the weight of over-full figures.

It actually decreases both the size and the weight of over-full figures.

The standardized Self-Reducing Corset, with exterior reducing straps, is made in a variety of models, most popular of which are Nos. 322, 324 and 326, with the elastic Nemo Lasticurve-Back. Made of stout material, well boned, and strong enough to control all heavy figures, these models are giving—and will give—complete corset-satisfaction to more than a million women.

Our new "Invisible" Self-Reducing Corset marks the COMPLETION of the Self-Reducing IDEA. It is a concession to women who want to enjoy all the hygienic features for which the Nemo is world-famous, but object to outside straps. The "Invisible" straps are concealed by the corset-skirt, but give the same complete support as the exterior straps.

Speaking further of the war, she said, it had brought the suffragists of England to the front in a manner never dreamed of by the men. These women have taught all classes that the mere knitting of socks by the well-to-do women for soldiers does not end their responsibility. They must pay the destitute women of England money to do this knitting, and thus relieve suffering at nome. And such they have done, she sald.

And it was the suffragists who welcame more intense. It was woman's comed the opportunity to care for the Belgium refugees, she said. They are being fed and housed and clothed, and the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

At the conclusion of past wars, Mrs ethick-Lawrence said, peace was made by the men-the diplomats representing the class which she referred to as "ir ternational gamblers." Dire Straits of Wage Earners.

A union machinist who has worked 26 years in the shop in St. Louis, whose reputation is unblemished and whose recommendations are the very best finds himself and his family of eight facing a desperate condition.

The man, 51 years old, has been out of emment since the first of October; his earnings 1914 were $766. His daughter, 21 years of ployed at a large printing establishment, ing $250; his son, 19 years old, machinist apearned during the year $325 and another years old has had two months' work since June, earning $50. This makes a total family ne of $1391, the loss in wages due to unemnt totals $566. In addition to the wage there is the mother, and three school chil-14. 12 and 7 years of age.

nt for the last four months. The father rent to 12 different shops in search of work, ithout success. The boys have worn their shoes atters looking for work.

That the family had been duly frugal is attested by the family account book, which shows the following expenditure for a year. Rent, $132; carfare, $125; insurance, $56; coal, $55; gas, $25; lodge, $24; union, $15; groceries, etc., $726; doctor bill, $100, which allows a remainder of $179 for clothing, recreation and incidentals for eight persons, averaging six cents per day.

The small savings of the family have melted away and the problem of carfare with which to hunt jobs now looms large.

This clean, upright, intelligent, skilled American citizen declares that he will not and his children shall not eat the bread of charity. There is no work for them, and the question he asked me totheir mother starve; shall my daughter go to the streets and myself and sons become criminals or shall I turn on the gas some night before the spany turns it off and take myself and the en I begat and the mother who bore them out of a world that has no use for honest, skilled

If the legal rights and the common sense of the community can be united upon a practical plan whereby the city can own or control a heating system which is cheap, efficient and smokeless, such as gas or electricity, as you suggest, St. Louis will become a far more economical, healthful and beautiful place in which to live and work.

THE INSURANCE BILL.

us eliminate as far as possible confusion o hought with regard to the insurance bill draws in accordance with the report of the Insurance Commission and pending in the State Legisla

Insurance is not monopolized, because man dependent companies, without common stock nolders or interlocking directorates, are operating the State. These companies may combine for rate-making purposes and use common agencie or bureaus for determining what the rates of different classes of risks shall be.

The State may enforce free competition in in surance business through anti-trust laws or, permitting common rate-making agencies or bureaus it may undertake to regulate the rates and insure fair rates.

By reason of the nature of the insurance business in which varying conditions of risks are involved and several companies write insurance on the same property or the same liability, it is generally regarded as advantageous to permit companies to use common bureaus or agencies to classify risks and ascertain what the rates should be.

The pending insurance bill permits the use of actuarial bureaus for rate-making purposes and provides for the regulation of rates by the Insurance Superintendent of the State and for complete publicity of all rates, records and data bearing upon the insurance business and the making of rates.

What the Insurance Commission or any of its members may have done in making up their report is interesting to the public, but the vital question concerns the merits of the bill-whether it affords protection from combine oppression and provides effective regulating power and methods. Briefly summarized the principal provisions of the bill are as follows:

All companies required to keep rate cards open to public. No two or more companies permitted to agree to naintain same rates. Any rating bureau must admit any company to membership, but no company can belong to more than one bureau for purpose of rating same risks. Rating bureaus and companies required to report details of their business to Superintendent of Insurance.

Changes of rates can be made by any company at any time, but changes must be reported to Insurance Superintendent and made public at once Qualifications and method of appointing risk ectors, who must be licensed, are defined.

Discriminatory rates forbidden Giving of special rates, rebates, etc. (different from general rates for all risk classes, published and reported to Superintendent of Insurance), must not be given to get any piece of business.

Authorizes Superintendent of Insurance, on complaint and inquiry, to abolish discriminatory rates, including power to raise rates. if shown to be unreasonably low.

Authorizes Superintendent of Insurance to require companies to report details of their business enabling him to judge if their rates are fair. Similar annual reports of stock in companies are required.

Requires stock companies to make reports for five-year period previous to enactment of proposed law.

Authorizes Superintendent of Insurance to cu stock company rates if five-year period report, which he can require at any time, shows they are earning more than a fair percentage on their

Public opinion should be fully informed on the usurance bill, because it embraces legislation of the greatest importance to the State. Enormous property and business interests depend upon the stability and fairness of insurance rates, and the ease and certainty with which insurance may be obtained. PARKWAY REFERENDUM FRAUDS.

The Election Commission's scrutiny shows that of 7236 names on the Parkway referendum petitions as filed but 4179 are genuine. The femaining 3057, or 42 per cent, represent fictitious persons or forged signatures.

It is to be assumed that the authorities will deal vigorously both with those who perpetrated these frauds and forgeries and with the men higher up who planned them, if there are men higher up. In the use so far made of the new direct-legislation devices there is recorded nowhere a more bare-faced attempt at wholesale trickery, imposture and swindling on the public.

It emphasizes again a point of weakness in those devices to which the Post-Dispatch has renestedly called attention. That is the lack of effective means of safeguarding the genuineness of petitions and insuring that they represent what they purport to represent.

St. Louis has in the City Election Commission and its employes a machinery for scrutinizing petition signatures. But in many counties no machinery of this effectiveness exists, and in a State matter an equal number of petition signatures from such counties would have the same authority as those from counties in which careful attestation is made. Though the Legislature provides, as it should, more specific penal laws covering all forms of petition frauds, opportunities for the abuse of these valuable devices will still remain. Individual readiness to sign petitions on presentation facilitates their use, as in this instance, for holdup purposes.

Most sinister of all possibilities, large interests can forward their designs by the use of money. From payment to collectors for obtaining names it is but a step to the payment of citizens for affixing their signatures.

The Post-Dispatch's suggestion is that citizens desirous of supporting a direct legislation movement shall be required to proceed in person to designated places for the affixing of their signatures in the presence of duly appointed officials. This involves no larger hardship than going to the polls to vote in an election, and to sign a direct legislation petition is a species of voting.

It would not be weakening the initiative and referendum. It would rather be strengthening them in respects where greater strength is needed to insure their permanence.

"Why, the man seems to possess all his natural senses."

"I mean socially and morally. 'Hard as nails' is his shibboleth. I think he glories in the distinction. It has come about so that his eyes seem closed to all human misery, his ears sealed lest one word of pity or sympathy appeals."

Thus, two men at the club discussed the member who performed his social functions as though they were a pennone, and cast a chill over all those with whom he came in contact. The first speaker went on:

"It was it years ago, when he arrived at age. He lived in a town several hundred miles from here, and was engaged to marry a beautiful girl. Her name was Eisinore Dayton. There was another suitor. His name, too, was Dayton—Horace Dayton, but he was no payton—Horace Dayton, but he was no relation to the fiances. Young Thearle had inherited some money. World's Lightweight Champion Hopes to Put an End to Rival's Boasting.

By Robert Edgren

Presently they'll be providing that the contestants wear head pads and body cashions to guard against accidents—and, in a sport noted for its low percentage of casualties as compared with other pastimes.

Adding big gloves and body pads to this sport will wipe it out as a public spectacle. It will take away the last shred of interest for the casual spectator. There is no disguising the fact that the sest of the boxing game lies in the hasard. It is this that puts caution and care into the moves of the exhibitors.

With nothing to fear from the landing of a blow, caution will be rendered useless and defensive skill will retrograde.

Nor, in the records of the ring accidents, is there any need whatever for providing protection of the sort mentioned. Considering the number of men engaged in amateur and professional boxing, the number of mishaps is remarkably low.

Most of the fatalities are due to carelessness in the padding of posts and ring floors, rather than to the impact of blows landed. A few cases of weak heart or bad physical condition have contributed to accidents.

We have better that Welsh was at his best in that bout, and that in their next battle Shugrue will trim him just as easily. The men will weigh 135 at 2 o'clock for this bout, which is the weight at which Welshwon his title from Willie Ritchie.

THE POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

New Securities Will Constitute Long-Term Loan; Stock Market Easy.

By Leased Wire From the New York

Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The Evening
Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"On the Stock Exchange prices moved with somewhat more irregularity than usual. During most of the day the market as a whole held firm on a narrow business, but declines in various stocks, some of them ratter decided, occurred.

"It is possible that a a part of the downward movement in such quarters had relation to European selling—notably from Amsterdam. This selling—notably from Amsterdam. This selling—has, it is presumed, to mean Berlin liquidation, and estimates running into the tens of millions have been made regarding its magnitude in the past three months.

"Rather oddly, it has not affected" garding its magnitude in the past three months.

"Rather oddly, it has not affected Berlin exchange, which at New York remains at the most unfavorable level touched since the war began. But Dutch exchange had advanced materially. On the whole, our market's absorption of all these foreign sales, without any lasting break of prices, testifies to the strength of the position. Naturally, the mere fact of our foreign liabilities having been thus reduced, without shaking the stability of the market, is in itself a fortifying influence.

Cetton Exports Heavy.

"The day's general news was not

The day's general news was not great importance. For one thing, stoday's cotton, exports were the third largest of the season, and far above the daily average of this period last year. Total shipments for this week are likely to reach a figure which would be called extremely large in a normal season.

"The Bank of England's statement was a weak showing. Gold holdings decreased $7,500,000, which must apparently reflect gold exports, and deposit liabilities increased $31,500,000. This latter movement, however, clearly resulted from the fact that another 10 per cent installment on the British war loan, or £35,000,000, fell due today. This is a purely temporary increase. It is always followed the next week by an equivalent increase being wiped out in the ensuing fortnight by the war expenditure."

"Aside from this Erie loan, numerous foreign loans were announced or were under discussion. The sale of New York bankers of $5,475,000 5-year bonds by the Province of Manitoba, and the $1,000,000 loan put out by Ottawa, following the marketing here of loans by the City of Montreal, the Province of Pritish Columbia, the City of Toronto, together with the direct discounting of various small issues of Dominion notes, brings the total financing done by Canada by New York bankers up to $25,-000,000.

Frie to Issue Bonds.

"The announcement that the Erie Railroad is to issue $15,000,000 long-term bonds was a matter of some importance in its bearing on problems of railway finance. This far, until the successful experiment of the Pennsylvania, there has been great hesitation in trying more ambitious experiments than the issue of short-term notes. The theory seemed to be, that investors would take their chances with a security due to mature one to thre years hence, but were not so ready in the base of bonds whose life must extend over the whole period of war and of post-bellum readjustment. But the bond market has been discussive weak declined 7 points, to 41, a point over its minimum. "In addition to the Canadian loans there was an issue of $13,000,000 Eric bonds authorized by the Public Service Commission. The entire offering of $8,500,000 City of Baltimore bonds, running for periods ranging from 36 to 47 years, were sold to a syndicate of New York and Baltimore bankers. The whole bond market was active, reflecting an excellent investment demand. One of the significant developments was the good demand from the savings banks and various financial institutions. There was no important change in sterling rates.

WILSON'S SPEECH

Shortage.

CHICAGO, Feb 4.—Bulls in the wheat market were quick today to utilize President Wilson's speech as a nelp to overcome yesterday's big drop in prices. It was urged by bull leaders that the address was of high significance as an official appreciation of the food grain shortage in the world, and as implying that the President was not in sympathy with a grain embargo. The market was also assisted by signs of fresh purchasing here for European account. After opening %c off to %c higher, the market advanced to a point 2%c to 3%c above last night. Big margins failed to check trade.

Corn showed heaviness at the start, but rallied sharply when wheat started upward in earnest. Country offerings to arrive were small. The opening, which varied from %c off to a like advance was followed by a material rise all around.

Oats took the same path as corn.
Cash houses led the buying.
Outside investors gave unusual support to provisions. The best call was for pork.
In the last hour the market went to $1.65 for May, influenced by advices that Europeans were taking flour as well as wheat on a large scale. Wheat for spot cash delivery sold at $1.66, equaling the topmost point the May option has yet touched.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. McCARDELL

Mr. Jarr Is Now the Guest of Honor at Very Exclusive Trouble-Fest.

TEN Mr. Jarr, in what was prac tically the custody of Frits, arrived at the tenement where its, the shipping clerk, resided, he maded a little group of neighbors assibled on the stoop discussing the low ans and walls that could be heard issuing from the ground floor flat on the right, where Frits had his domicile. imerable children shricked and rted in the street and on the sidedisported in the street and on the sac-walk, their childish play being in the na-ture of riot and assault with sticks and stones. A hush fell upon the group of adults as the worried Frits and the even more worried Mr. Jarr approached. And Frits and Mr. Jarr passed within in

"But it ain't his wife's voice, and, anyway, he's afeered of his wife," remarked the stout woman. "I think it's his sister. She's the fat lady visiting them, and very refined."
"It's hysterics, that's what it is, I think," said the lady with the pail under the shaw!. "Maybe she wants to go to the war in Germany and nurse the wounded soldiers and they won't take her because she is a fat lady."
Meanwhile Mr. Jarr and Fritz had been admitted to the front room by Mr. Malachi Hogan, the boarder. For, Fritz's wife could get only as far as the doorway to the back parlor; owing to the folding bed being down. Fatima lay sobbing in the bed.

Mr. Jarr, in his best judicial manner took a chair beside the bed, and while Fritz and Mr. Hogan nodded their heads in approval (and Mrs. Fritz on the other side of the bed in the doorway to the back of the flat, wrung her hands in exasperation), Mr. Jarr began a calm resital to Fatima as to the futility and collabness of her course. al to Fatima as to the futility and
